

At Pudsey Bolton Royd we aim to bring History to life through a variety of different approaches including exciting educational visits, visitors to school and first-hand experiences. As a school, we aim to take the children on a historical journey through time developing their chronological skills, widening their vocabulary, and developing their questioning skills. We wish to further their curiosity of the past by looking at British, local and world history, enabling the children to make contrasts, connections, and trends over time. Children will be immersed in a rich, diverse, progressive historical curriculum where they develop their own judgements and opinions as historians.
